To whom it may concern

Rene is very committed and technically competent engineer. There are no challenges he is not willing to get involved on.

I had the pleasure to work with Rene in Germany between the beginning of 2018 till mid of 2021.

Rene provided a fundamental contribution by developing a database and producing reports combining operational and financial information. This significantly contributed to the project's turn around and the consequent business we managed to deliver with Telefonica Germany.

Rene immediately gained the confidence of the whole team by making himself available and providing valid solutions to overcome the project data management complexity.

Unfortunately, the project we are working on, is coming to an end, but I'm looking forward to work with Rene again in the future.

I'm pleased to recommend Rene for any role that might fit his wide range of competences being sure of the added value he will bring.

Sincerely
